

CALLS QUIGG A LOBBYIST.

PARSONS SPEAKS AT A 26TH DISTRICT MEETING.

Sets Out to Help Krulewitch in His Fight Against Newman and Lee Says Plain Language in Doing It—Says Democratic Money is Backing Quigg.

Herbert W. Parsons, chairman of the Republican county committee, was the principal speaker at a meeting in the Twenty-sixth Assembly district last night. The meeting was held at the Star Casino, under the auspices of the Progressive Republican Club. This organization is backing Assemblyman Samuel Krulewitch in his fight to wrest the district leadership from Isaac Newman, who held the leadership of the old Thirty-second Assembly district for thirteen years. Krulewitch is out for Parsons, while Newman has always been an Odell-Quigg man.

James R. Schiff, president of the club, was chairman of the meeting and introduced Krulewitch, who denied the charges of ingratitude made against him by Newman and said that Newman did not "make" him. In support of this he read the affidavit of Louis Firecracker, a former captain under Newman, which went to prove that Newman really desired Krulewitch's defeat in the last election.

Of Newman Krulewitch said: "I defy him to show me the money for his campaign comes from Ryan and the Metropolitan Street Railroad Company. The chairman was introducing a local colored lawyer, but he was struck up by 'Hail to the Chief,' and Mr. Parsons entered the hall. Everybody stood up and cheered."

Mr. Parsons said that he had come to talk about two matters, one local to the Twenty-sixth and the other common to all the Assembly districts. He congratulated and thanked Assemblyman Krulewitch and his supporters and predicted success. Then he went on:

"The only argument that I have heard against Assemblyman Krulewitch is the charge of ingratitude. When any leader makes that charge, it always betrays his idea of what the party organization is. It shows that he considers it his personal property. Such a leader, thinking only of himself and disregarding the thousands of voters, by the very charge renders himself unfit for leadership in the Republican party."

In this case the charge is ludicrous. Did Newman want Krulewitch elected? Not a bit of it. On the contrary, he put him up to be knocked down. The affidavit of Louis Firecracker shows that although Krulewitch had received the endorsement of the Municipal Ownership League, and a sufficient number of petitions had been signed for his nomination on that ticket, Newman only wanted him to run on the Republican ticket, and consequently told Mr. Firecracker to be in filing the petitions at the Board of Elections, whether he was sent on the last night for filing.

It was a cunning scheme, the directions given showed that Firecracker's name was to have all the evidences of sincerity, but by his being too late Krulewitch would miss officially the endorsement that had actually been given him. What would have been the result? There would have been a split in the party, and the Municipal Ownership League candidate and the Tammany candidate would have been elected. That which is contained in the Firecracker affidavit has been confirmed to me in other ways. Newman's plan on that occasion was one of the basest acts of party treachery known. No organization can live and do effective work if a man who attempted to perpetrate such a trick is in a position where any confidence must be reposed in him. There are some Tammany-Republicans among the old leaders, and Newman has long been known as one of them.

When the reappointment was made I learned that Newman was Senator Frawley's messenger boy. If I had any doubt about it, the Firecracker affidavit and other things that I have since learned would assure me that such was the fact beyond peradventure.

In the county at large there is an issue which is involved in this fight here, it is whether the party machinery shall be controlled by the lobbying interests. This may be hard and disagreeable language to the lobbyists, but if they put themselves forward they must expect people to be told of the danger. Lobbying is a bad thing, if they want to, but they must not be our leaders. There are many things that I might have said about the public and political history of Mr. Lemuel Ely Quigg which I have omitted to say. What I have said is the minimum of facts which the Republicans of this county should know in order to vote intelligently on primary day.

Last winter when I was put forward for chairman I received President Roosevelt's support, because it is known that if elected Quigg not only could not run, but it would be known that Quigg could not run me. No one familiar with the facts could have been surprised when some months ago he announced his opposition to me; and he is now in a position to support me, but he is in opposition. In one disguise or another he is trying to fool the people and defeat me. His success would enable him to go before a Governor, or to a Legislative committee, or to the introduction of a bill, all the insinuating force that would surround him if he controlled the party machinery here. An important position in the party increases his value to the special interests with which he is associated.

Last winter we had a reformed Legislature. In particular the Assembly was free from control by special interests. Men of reputation headed important committees, and there was no fear of secret deals which men are afraid to do openly. But this was not as it should be in the minds of the special interests. To them legislators are to be handled, and they must find the man who could handle them. Personal differences had to be brushed aside. This was the result of a reconciliation that took place and effected the combination that is now opposed to us.

Yesterday Mr. Quigg undertook to speak for the conservative interests. We know the interests that he wishes to conserve. If the party machinery is in the hands of the representatives of such special interests thousands of Republicans will, I fear, seek refuge in an outsider in despair at the party's failure to purge itself.

What the party needs is soundness. The lobbying interests are our peril; not our salvation. Those whom we shall nominate, all of them from top to bottom, must be known to be free from all obligations to or reliance upon the representatives of such special interests. No suspicion of an understanding between them, actual or potential, should exist.

I call upon you, Republicans of the Twenty-sixth Assembly district, to assert the organization's freedom from such influences and its devotion to the principles and leadership of Theodore Roosevelt.

JUDGE O'CONNOR FOR CONGRESS.

Labor Party Nominates Him Against James S. Sherman.

UTICA, Sept. 6.—James K. O'Connor, City Judge of Utica, was nominated to-night for Member of Congress by the Labor party of the Twenty-seventh Congress district. Judge O'Connor is the first in the field against James S. Sherman, chairman of the Republican Congressional campaign committee, who will shortly be re-nominated by the Republicans. Judge O'Connor expects endorsement from the Democrats and the Independents.

Alexander A. Rosenthal was to-night nominated for Member of Assembly by the First Onondaga district by the Utica labor organizations.

Sherman's Dollar Fund is Growing.

Chairman Sherman of the Republican Congressional campaign committee said yesterday that the committee's appeal for dollar subscriptions had been so well answered that the total had now reached five figures.

MCARREN ON BOSSES.

He's for an Open, Untrammelled Convention. Same as Jerome.

Senator P. H. McCarren, leader of the Kings county Democracy, made this statement yesterday in explanation of his position relative to the Governorship:

"I am not committed to the candidacy of Judge Gaynor or anybody else. I speak, of course, for myself alone. If I attend the Democratic State convention, and I expect to be a delegate to it, what influence I possess will be exerted to the end of seeking to find a candidate upon whom the delegates to the convention can unite in sufficient numbers to give some assurance of party victory. In this matter I am absolutely untrammelled. I have no axes to grind, no personal considerations will be permitted to sway my judgment, and I have no selfish ambitions to serve. Any man upon whom the delegates in sufficient strength can agree, I do not care what he has done in the past or whether he is personally popular to me, will receive my vote as a delegate. I am in cordial sympathy with the programme of a free and untrammelled convention, where each delegate should have the right to vote for the wishes of a boss. For years I have fought for a convention of that kind, and I hope that a beginning will be made in the Buffalo convention."

"I see that the Jerome conference in Albany said that the convention must be an open one. I want to endorse that heartily. That has been my position all along."

There was a story in circulation in Brooklyn yesterday that secret instructions had been issued to Hearst's Independence League followers that they should line up with Sheriff Michael J. Flaherty, head of the M. O. L. forces, and James Shevlin, leader of the old Willoughby street contingent in the Democratic organization, in the fight against Senator McCarren, although they had been instructed by Hearst's chief lieutenants to take no part in the primary contests. Mr. Shevlin, on a recent visit to Brooklyn, is reported to have given this advice to an Independence League district leader.

Get into the fight against McCarren. Help Flaherty. Never mind what Max F. Hensen said a while ago about keeping out of the old party primaries."

The friends of Senator McCarren fully understand the cause of this attack along the line at the primaries, but they are confident that he will score another big victory.

CONVENTIONS IN BROOKLYN.

Democratic Executive Committee Fixes the Dates for Them.

A special meeting of the Democratic executive committee in Brooklyn was held last night at the headquarters in Court square. Senator P. H. McCarren presiding. The chief business on hand was the fixing of the dates for the various conventions, which will be held as follows:

Assembly district conventions for the election of three delegates and three alternates from each to the State convention and one delegate and one alternate to the judiciary convention, Thursday, September 13.

Congressional conventions, Tuesday, October 2.

Senatorial conventions, Wednesday, October 3.

Assembly conventions, Thursday, October 4.

The arrangements for the transportation of the Brooklyn delegation to the State convention and for the election of delegates at Buffalo as made by Magistrate O'Reilly, secretary of the committee, were approved. During the session of the committee no reference was made to the disturbed political situation in the State, but at its close there was some earnest discussion among the members, all of whom seemed to approve of the views expressed earlier in the day by Senator McCarren in favor of an open convention at Buffalo. It is expected that the sixty-nine delegates from Brooklyn will act as a unit and support Senator McCarren, the party leader, on all the questions which will come up.

Neither the Senator nor his friends are altogether satisfied with the outcome of the Flaherty-Shevlin forces will make any formidable impression at the primaries, and it was asserted last night that the organization was unable to win in twenty-two of the twenty-three Assembly districts. The Second and Seventeenth, it was said, were the only two districts in which the party had any chance of winning their ticket, but the organization forces will put up the hardest kind of a fight to keep them in the regular camp.

ON LA FOLLETTE'S DEFEAT.

Spencer Says It Shows the People Have Determined to Put Down a Wouldbe Boss.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 6.—Mildly rejoicing in the defeat of his old enemy, Senator La Follette, in Tuesday's primaries, Senator Spooner to-day gave out an interview saying in effect that the election of the man opposed by La Follette was evidence that the people of Wisconsin had determined to put down the wouldbe boss. Senator Spooner said:

"Popular appreciation of the true spirit of the system was shown by the recent result against attempted dictation and by results evidently intended to put an end to personal political absolutism in Wisconsin. If any man had conceived the idea that the Wisconsin primary system could be made a useful supplement to a political machine, the result Tuesday must have convinced him of his error."

THE DELEGATES FROM QUEENS.

Shall They Be Elected by Assembly Districts? No Decision Yet.

Supreme Court Justice Van Kirk in Brooklyn, reserved decision yesterday on an application of Lawyer Clarence Edwards for an order directing that the delegates to be elected in Queens county to the Democratic State convention be elected by Assembly districts and not from the county at large. The lawyer contended that if the delegates were elected from the county of Queens they would not be entitled to all the State convention. Former County Judge Henry S. Moore contended that the State convention had no authority in deciding how the delegates should be elected in counties. Mr. Edwards's reply said the unit of representation in the Democratic party was the Assembly district and not the county. Briefs were handed up.

Parsons to Speak in the Bronx.

There will be a meeting of the Republicans in the Twenty-fourth Assembly district in the Bronx to-night to endorse the candidacy of Hedley M. Greene for leader of that district.

It will be held under the auspices of the Pioneer Club in Crotona, at 975 East 160th street. Congressman Herbert Parsons will speak.

The most decided advances in temperature were in central New York and New England. Fair to stormy weather yesterday in the east coast of Florida, attended by brisk winds, but no precipitation. The pressure was also low in the extreme Northwest.

HE'S DOWN AND OUT, SAYS DADY

THAT'S HIS VIEW OF LEADER TIMOTHY L. WOODRUFF.

He Would Like to Make Butting the Leader in Brooklyn—Woodruff's Strength—Sharkey's Captain in the Fifth Rebel and Stand by the Organization.

Field Marshal Mike Dady, chief manager of the Odell-Quigg combine in Brooklyn, came out in the open yesterday against the leadership of Timothy L. Woodruff and predicted his downfall.

"It doesn't matter," he said, "what the result of the primaries may be, Mr. Woodruff's down and out. He is through, and you can spell that word t-h-r-u if you think it looks stronger that way. He is a trimmer. No one knows from one day to the next where he is. He says one thing to-day and to-morrow he turns around and says the opposite. The Republicans of Kings county are dissatisfied with his methods, any one thinks I am after the leadership he is entirely wrong. If I wanted it I could have had it long ago."

Col. Dady then went on to describe how Mr. Woodruff once brought him "with tears in his eyes" to save him from political annihilation. He also said that he had seen Odell on Wednesday and that he had his "moral support."

It is understood that Col. Dady, if successful in his warfare on Mr. Woodruff, intends to boost former Sheriff William J. Butting for the leadership of the organization, although he was formerly one of Butting's most bitter political foes. Butting was a protégé of the late Jacob Worth and has never forgiven Woodruff for Worth's overthrow as the Republican boss in Kings county. Dady and Butting had a confab down at Dreamland on Wednesday night and it is said joined hands in the night against Woodruff.

Former Naval Officer Robert A. Sharkey, the Republican leader of the Fifth Assembly district, was working hard yesterday to patch up a peace between Woodruff and Dady. The cause of this was that his election district captains got together on Wednesday night and instead of taking orders from him as in the past turned on him and gave him their orders.

"We are for the organization," said one of the captains, and this was cheered by his fellow workers. "We are out for Dady. We want you to go to Mr. Woodruff and tell him that we are for the organization in this county, and tell him the Republicans of the Fifth Assembly district are loyal Republicans and true to the organization."

Sharkey was astounded. It was the first time in years that his captains had dictated to him. He could hardly reply, and before the meeting was over a committee was appointed to take the entire matter under consideration and report back at a meeting to be held to-night. The committee, including Mr. Sharkey, saw Mr. Woodruff yesterday, who explained his position in the present political situation. It was acceptable to the committee. Rather than bow to the will of his captains, Sharkey immediately started to work for peace, but up to a late hour last night he had failed to do so.

"It'll be a case of the Republicans," said one of the captains yesterday, "taking full control. Instead of doffing our hats to Sharkey now it's the other way. He takes off his hat to us."

OSWEGO DEMOCRATS AT WAR.

Bitter Fight at the County Convention. Which Refuses to Indorse Hearst.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 6.—At the Democratic county convention held at Pulaski to-day a bitter factional fight was waged between the Bulger and Mansfield factions. Judge Bulger manipulated the convention from start to finish, and Francis T. Cullen and John E. Pidgeon, who led the fight for ex-Mayor Mansfield, were swept from the floor of the convention.

The contest over seats started the rumpus and the Mansfield delegations from the Second and Fourth wards of this city were unseated. The worst disorder ensued when the Bulger faction refused to recognize a member from each Assembly district, and the delegates from the Second and Fourth wards of this city were unseated. The worst disorder ensued when the Bulger faction refused to recognize a member from each Assembly district, and the delegates from the Second and Fourth wards of this city were unseated.

An effort to stir up enthusiasm for William Randolph Hearst flat, and a resolution instructing the delegates to the Buffalo convention to support Hearst was defeated by an overwhelming vote. Charles N. Bulger, Fred Moore and William Hartnett were chosen as delegates to the State convention.

BEAT CALIFORNIA'S GOVERNOR.

Republican Convention Turns Down Pardee Because of Earthquake Attitude.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Sept. 6.—The Republican State convention to-day nominated the following ticket:

For Governor, James N. Gillett; Lieutenant Governor, Warren Porter; Secretary of State, Charles F. Curry; Controller, E. P. Colgan; Attorney-General, U. S. Webb; Surveyor-General, W. S. Kingsbury; Treasurer, W. R. Williams; Supreme Justices, M. C. Sloss, Fred W. Henshaw and W. C. Lorigan.

Gillett was nominated on the first ballot, receiving 50 1/2 votes to 23 1/2 for Pardee, the present Governor.

Pardee's general indecision at the time of the San Francisco disaster and his refusal to yield to the request of the citizens for a settlement of the earthquake litigation is thought to have wrought his defeat.

The platform gives thanks to all who aided San Francisco in her time of need and asks the Congress to pass an amendment to the existing tariff law, as a measure of relief for San Francisco, providing that for three years all kinds of building material be admitted at the port of San Francisco free of duty.

LONGWORTH IN NO DANGER.

Cincinnati Republican Leaders Say He's Sure of Nomination and Election.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—The rumors that friends of George B. Cox have planned to prevent Nicholas Longworth from returning to Congress, either by defeating him for nomination or at the polls, are not credited among Republican leaders generally.

Those in position to know say that Cox and his followers have not yet become aware that such a slap at Roosevelt and Secretary Taft could not be delivered, but that a deal was made long ago wherein Cox agreed to support the nomination of Longworth in any way opposing the Roosevelt-Taft wing of the party, but to support Longworth loyally. This promise on the part of Cox has been kept, and he is secure immunity from attack in the Times-Star, which belongs to Charles P. Taft, the Secretary's brother, and is the Republican organ of Hamilton county.

WOODRUFF AND MCARREN MEET.

They Are Lobsters of Honor at a Festive Board in Bath Beach.

Tim Woodruff and Patrick McCarren were lobsters of honor last night at the grand annual dinner of the Bath Beach Lobster Club, held in Suppers' Hotel, Bath Beach, where the lobsters of the land meet the lobsters of the sea while sojourns plays the band, and the lobsters disagree. Woodruff came in late, but in time to make a speech. He sat at the place of honor on the right hand of Judge Ferguson, the chairman, and separated from McCarren only by the Judge and the claws of a number of lobsters that had been part of the feast. The two bosses indulged in several pleasantries aimed at each other during the dinner.

HEARST CONVENTION PLANS.

A TWO DAY SESSION, BUT ONLY HALF A TICKET.

The Scheme to Leave the Ticket With Only the Two Candidates on It to Be Referred to the State Committee on Monday—Men for Second Place.

The Hearst convention next week is to be a two day affair. It will open at Carnegie Hall on Tuesday and will be continued over to the following day. The first day will be devoted to speeches from the temporary and permanent chairmen and the appointment of the usual committees. In the evening the committee on nominations will meet, and following instructions which will be given to it in advance it will report in favor of selecting a full State ticket or of nominating only William R. Hearst for Governor and some one for Lieutenant-Governor, leaving it to a committee to fill vacancies.

This latter plan is the one which is favored by Mr. Hearst's closest advisers. Their scheme is to have only Mr. Hearst and the candidate for Lieutenant-Governor nominated and to leave it to the committee on vacancies to fill up the rest of the ticket after the Democratic State convention has been held. This plan would leave the way open for a dicker with the Democratic State convention by which in return for the indorsement of Hearst and his colleague the candidate for Governor would name the rest of the ticket. Should the convention fail to indorse Mr. Hearst, his committee could then go ahead and complete the Democratic ticket, and the rest of the ticket would be submitted to the committee, whose opinion would be asked.

The man selected for the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor will be one of these four: George W. Fuller of Jefferson county, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler of Dutchess, William F. Mackey of Erie and Reuben R. Lyon of Schoharie.

Max Hensen, chairman of the league's State committee, will call the convention to order. The temporary chairman will be an up-State man and the permanent chairman will come from this city. It is understood that Judge Samuel Seabury will be chosen for permanent chairman.

LABOR MEN DISCLAIM HEARST.

Say That Their Party is Not Bound to the Editor Candidate.

J. H. Hatch, chairman of the executive committee of the Central Federated Union, was moved to wrath yesterday by the reports that the newly elected Independent Labor party was an adjunct of the Hearst organization. "Hearst," said the chairman. "Do you think we'd be forming a party of our own if we were suited with the way things are going in the Independent League?"

The Independent Labor men are busy dispelling the error that a man can be one of them and remain in Tammany or the Independent League.

Chairman Hatch was asked what attitude the party held to Hearst. "How can I tell you that?" he asked. "The Independent Labor party has no opinion of any kind of Hearst. Of course the fact that they formed a party of their own means that they didn't care to be in Hearst's party. It implies that they are entirely independent of the labor party? Well, of course only the convention can say. The delegates will meet about the first of October. They will meet about the first of October. They will meet about the first of October."

Whether Hearst comes up for consideration by the labor convention will, said the chairman, depend largely on what he has to say for himself. If he maintains his pose of silence the labor men see no particular reason for bestowing any gifts upon him. They say it is up to Hearst to declare himself.

Chairman Hatch was asked whether there was any particular cause for friction between the labor men and the Hearst organization. He said: "What we want is a permanent labor party, not one for this campaign only but for future campaigns as well. Now, the days are past when organized labor could be used to promote the political fortunes of any individual outsider. This year, to start with, we will have organizations in every Assembly district of the State, and every district will have its three delegates to the convention; then we will have real labor and a nominee who is the choice of the voters themselves. That is the kind of organization that we are setting up. We have no use for the Hearst style of organization, with subsidized leaders set over the districts and controlled from the outside."

Montgomery County Hearst Committee Organized.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The county committee of the Hearst Independence League of Montgomery county was perfected at a meeting held this afternoon in Ponda. John C. Wheeler of Canajoharie was elected chairman, and W. Arthur Kline of this city and Charles J. Wood of Minden were chosen secretaries. Delegates were elected to attend the State convention in New York on September 11. The town of Florida was not represented at to-day's meeting. The more prominent Democrats of the city and county did not attend the meeting.

The fabrics are new; so is the cut and design of the waistcoats; some extremely radical, others conservative, nevertheless new. The Fall Stetson Soft Hats

Three-Five and Five Dollars

He was from Missouri, a merchant there, with the "get-there" disposition. With a sad story he came into our hat shop—Stetson could not give him the soft hats he needed and he asked us to let him have two dozen at the standard retail price.

Even this man from Missouri knows that we alone maintain a complete stock of the Stetson hats in both exclusive and staple models. Do you?

The New Fall Scarfs, $1.00

Perhaps the silks themselves aren't a great deal better for it, but, by importing our dollar scarf silks and satins, we are certain that the designs are new and exclusive. The diversity of designs and shades is infinite.

We expect more of this series of shirts than the modest profit. They ought to incline those of you who have the to-order shirt habit to reform. The fabric is excellent; so is the tailoring, and the designs are altogether new and exclusive.

SALOON TRAGEDY IN RICHMOND.

Two Young Married Women Arrested in the House Over the Barroom.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 6.—A man who staggered from an alleyway on Broad street, next to the Klondike saloon, late last night, and with bleeding head and crushed skull fell to the sidewalk, was identified by his fifteen-year-old son at the Morgue to-day as C. Henderson, aged 33, a carpenter at the Chesapeake and Ohio car shops. The boy looked at the ghast
